BROOKLYN, N. Y., Oct. 10.—Big Ed Pfeffer, who measured about 9 feet 4 inches in his quizzical, horseshoe nose, put a crimp in the punch of the Boston Red Sox this afternoon on Ebbetts Field. He relieved Jack Coombs in the seventh inning, and after he stepped on the mound, not one Boston player reached first base. He killed the punch of the world's champions and Brooklyn won out 4 to 3 in the third game of the world's series.

Jack Coombs and Carl Mays started the game this afternoon, and Coombs excelled the Boston youngster. He won his game and is yet to be defeated in a world's series. The veteran twirler held the Boston team to seven hits for as many innings, but Larry Gardner's home run drive upset the veteran, and Pfeffer was sent in to save the game.

Brooklyn Outlits Sox
Brooklyn outlits Boston today and played errorless ball in the field. Olson played a startling game at short field, and Mowrey stood like a rock at the difficult corner. Cutshaw handled all of his chances with ease, and it was his single in the third inning which gave the Dodgers the real punch.

Carl Mays was hit hard during his tenure of office, and Manager Carrigan jerked him in the last of the fifth, after Ivor Olson had tripled and scored two runners, giving Brooklyn a lead then of 4 to 0. George Foster, hero of two world's series games last year, was sent on the mound and held the Dodgers safe for three innings.

Daubert Comes Back
Jake Daubert, guardian of the initial sack, won his way into the good graces of the Brooklyn fans today after a lapse of about 72 hours. He played a sensational game at first, secured three hits and scored the first run of the day. Charley Shorten, who played his first game of the series for Boston, securing three singles, one of which was responsible for a run.

Ivor Olson was the real hero of the day in the hitting line. Wheat and Mowrey had walked in the fifth, and the Swede came to the plate with two men on bases and two out. He had singled in the fourth and scored the second run, and the crowd gave him a great hand as he marched to the plate. Mays was showing a tendency to wildness, but he sent one across the plate and Olson hit. The sound of the crack of the bat against the ball was sweet music to the fans of Flatbush, and as the former Pacific Coast Leaguer slid into third safe, the crowd went wild.

Brooklyn had the first opportunity to cheer in the third inning when Daubert singled and went to second on Stengel's hit. Wheat went out, but Cutshaw hit a hard drive to right which scored Daubert.

Again in the second inning Olson singled and scored when Jack Coombs drove out a clean single. The Dodgers had an excellent opportunity in the sixth inning when Daubert hit a triple, but the first sacker was caught on a great throw to the plate. Coombs Pitched Good Ball
Jack Coombs pitched a good game throughout. He was steady at all times and walked only one batter. He was mixing his fast ball with a slow

Here are the pitchers who stopped the Boston "drive" today and won victory for the Brooklyn Nationals. Above is "Colby Jack" Coombs, who went in great shape until he was hit for a lucky home run. After that big Ed Pfeffer (below) took up the burden and turned the Red Sox back in a hurry.

1500 STUDENTS ESCAPE DEATH, WISCONSIN U

Flames Sweep Main Hall and Destroy It; Many Saved By
Miracle From Being Cut Off
By Rushing Fire

(Associated Press by Federal Wireles)

MADISON, Wis., Oct. 10.—Fifteen hundred students of the University of Wisconsin, men and women of all classes, were placed in imminent peril of their lives today when a sudden burst of flame ran through a lower hall of the main university building.
So rapidly did the flames spread from the moment of their discovery that hundreds of students were cut off from ordinary exits and had to take to fire escapes, or go down temporary ladders, while many others rushed through the smoke of the stairways and lower halls and reached the outer air safely. So far as is known there was not a single casualty, not even an injury in the jam of fleeing students.
The origin of the fire is unknown. The structure was swept from end to end and destroyed, with the loss of much valuable equipment.

Germany

(Associated Press by Federal Wireles)
NEW YORK, N. Y., Oct. 10.—Ambassador James Gerard of Germany reached New York today from Berlin. He refused either to affirm or deny the circumstantial story printed in the New York Evening Post last week that he is returning on a peace mission on behalf of Germany, bearing a personal message from the kaiser to President Wilson. At Washington it is said he is returning on a vacation.

SPAIN TO STOP ALL SUBMARINE SUPPLIES TAKEN IN HER WATERS

LONDON, England, Oct. 9.—A wireless press despatch from Madrid, via Rome, says that Spain is determined that there shall be no violations of international law by German or other submarines in her waters. The governments have given definite orders to military and naval forces prohibiting the revictualing of foreign submarines in Spanish waters.

GERMAN OFFICIAL CABLE

GERMAN HEADQUARTERS, Oct. 9.—Duke Albrecht's front, on west: Near the Flanders coast and south of Ypres, also on the Artois front, there has been lively fire and patrol activity. The furious Somme battle continues today. Yesterday the Allies' already terrific efforts were materially increased, but it resulted only in heavier losses through our brave infantry and the strong artillery of General von Below. Not even the smallest proof trench was lost on a 25-kilometer front.
The British and French, with especial violence and short intervals stormed, in spite of extraordinary losses, between Guedecourt and Bouchavesnes. Generals von Boehn and von Gerner's troops repulsed them every time.
Near Lens a British hold was cleaned up and 90 prisoners and seven machine guns captured.
An artillery duel also raged today north of Amiens and on separate sectors south of the Somme.
Army Group of the Crown Prince: Extensive German blastings in the Argonne have destroyed French trenches to a considerable extent. East of the Meuse artillery combats have been temporarily revived.
The extreme strain on all forces has required extraordinary achievements from our flyers as well as from the land forces, since they must take part in constant observation service. The heavy task of observation raiders can only be accomplished if the battle-fliers hold off the enemy. The number of air combats has therefore reached record figures in the past few days, with a favorable result for the Germans. We lost during September 20 machines in air combats and one is missing. The Anglo-French losses in air combats were 97; shot down from the earth, 25; forced to land in our lines, seven, a total of 129 machines, out of which about an equal number fell within our lines and on the enemy's territory.
In the eastern war theater, on Prince Leopold's front, the Russians repeated their charges against part of the recently-attacked front west of Luck. The Russians now have obtained success, but again suffered the greatest loss. At this place also the defeat is very bloody. Southeast of Brzezany Russian advances were repulsed. In the Carpathians near Babulova we advanced our positions by a surprise attack. The conquered terrain was defended by violent hand-to-hand fighting.
In Transylvania, eastern part, we have continued our march ahead.
The Rumanians beaten in the battle of Kornstadt withdrew and reinforcements arrived from the north in vain. Northeast of Kornstadt we again advanced, conquering several places, the enemy rolling back on the whole main line.
In the Balkan arena, von Mackensen's German troops assisted by Austrian monitors conquered an island in the Danube by a coup, northwest of Sulstow. Two officers, 150 men and six cannons were captured.
On the Macedonia front, west of the railroad from Monastir to Florina, hostile attacks were repulsed. East of the railroad the enemy obtained a footing on the left bank of the Cerna river.

BRITISH STEAMER KINGSTONIAN SUNK, NO TRACE OF MEN; POLK SAYS ALLIED DEMANDS REFUSED

STATE DEPARTMENT WON'T ACCEPT CONTENTION OF ENTENTE DIPLOMATS THAT NEUTRALS SHOULD DENY
USE OF HARBORS TO SUBMARINES — INDICATIONS
PRESIDENT DOES NOT BELIEVE SITUATION CRITICAL
—HE WILL CONTINUE SPEAKING TOUR

(Associated Press Service by Federal Wireles)
NEW YORK, N. Y., Oct. 10.—Vanishing from the waters where six and perhaps nine vessels have been sent to the bottom, the German submarine U-53 and the other two believed to have been with her have disappeared entirely from the sea-lanes since they torpedoed the merchant steamers.

The mystery of the present location of the raiders is worrying shipping men greatly. Both liners and freighters approaching or leaving this and other Atlantic ports are taking unusual courses and often running at high speed.

Cargoes worth millions are at stake in this race against the possibility of destruction and there is also fear that lives will be lost by the sinking of vessels unwarned.

NEWPORT, Rhode Island, Oct. 10.—The crew of the British steamer Kingstonian, which was abandoned on Sunday after being torpedoed by a German submarine, are still missing. The location of the Kingstonian when abandoned is known with some precision and the crew should have been picked up or reached a haven of safety before now.

Eleven torpedo-boats, of the big fleet of naval vessels patrolling the coast line, are busy searching for the missing sailors. There is much anxiety felt, for even if the boats are afloat, they are probably short of provisions and water, and the weather is turning cold. A storm may come up at almost any time.

The crew was of about 50 men.
First reports gave the name of one of the submarined vessels as the "Kingston," Newscor. This was probably a mistake. The Kingstonian is a British four-masted steamer of 6500 tons, belonging to the Leyland company. It is fitted for passenger travel but as nothing is mentioned in the despatches concerning passengers, probably only the crew was aboard when the submarine made its raid.

U. S. Denies' Allies' Contention That Submarines Could Not Use Harbors

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 10.—Counsellor Polk of the state department announced today that the United States has refused to accept the contention of the Allies, urging neutral nations to deny the use of their harbors to submarines, whether merchantmen or warships.

The United States takes the position that war submarines are of the same status, so far as international law is concerned, as are other warships, and may use American harbors under similar restrictions and regulations.

Russian Torpedo-Boat Sinks Two German Submarines on Baltic Coast

CHRISTIANIA, Norway, Oct. 10.—A Russian torpedo-boat has sunk two German submarines after the submarines had attacked a Russian wireless station at Sepravelak, on the Murman or Baltic Sea coast. The submarines, before being sunk, had risen to the surface and opened fire with the guns upon the station. Several of those at the wireless station were killed by the shells.

Paris Newspaper Sees Political Move

PARIS, France, Oct. 9.—The Gaulois, well-known French newspaper, says today editorially:
"Germany is convinced that by extending her field of assassination to American waters she will bring about a peace movement through the United States. She imagines that American merchants and trusts, seeing the overseas commerce shattered and trade paralyzed, will demand that Washington intervene for peace or force Great Britain to lift the commercial blockade.
"Berlin believes also that with the presidential election approaching, President Wilson will accede to these demands and that advantage will be gained for the cause of the Central Powers."

Wilson to Continue Campaign Plans

LONG BRANCH, N. J., Oct. 9.—President Wilson plans to leave Shadow Lawn tomorrow for Indianapolis, where he is due to make a campaign speech. This is taken as an indication that he does not consider the submarine situation critical.

Says His Steamer Sunk Unwarned

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 10.—At least one of the steamers sunk in Sunday's wholesale raid against shipping by a German submarine off Rhode Island was sent to her end without warning and this fact, coupled with the announcement that Secretary of State Lansing has been summoned to Long Branch to confer with the president, lends weight to the apprehension in official circles that complications are probable.
That Mr. Lansing is to confer with the president on the question of the submarine raids has been announced and this confirms the impression that the administration considers that the submarine activities are fraught with grave possibilities.
The navy department has issued new warnings to all radio stations not to send out any messages regarding
